

A view of the new shaker separator at the Assateague Island National Park WWTP, which was added to prevent blinding of 2 basket filters prior to the ultra filtration units.

A view of the new green hose going from the shaker separator to the anoxic tank.